

forêt méditerranéenne

Le Sol illustré par la science et l'art pour l'éducation

Colloque « Regards sur les sols forestiers méditerranéens » – 12-13 novembre 2025

- Étude de l'existant → portail européen
- Développement de groupes nationaux : les orchestres du sol
- Appels à projets artistiques
-
- Festival des sols

ABOUT SOILSCAPE ▾ SOIL ORCHESTRAS OPEN CALL NEWS & EVENTS ▾ PRESS KIT

SOILSCAPE – the story of soil, science and art

Once upon a time, in a world where soil degradation became a priority concern, where hundreds of soil scientists and professionals rang the alarm bell, but where major gaps in societal awareness and education on the importance of soils for humans and the ecosystems persisted and slowed down the change towards sustainable soil governance, a rich and expansive story started to unfold. It is a tale of transformation, and a collaborative journey towards increased soil literacy.

The remarkable endeavor called SOILSCAPE emerges to unite the worlds of soil, art, and society in a shared mission to preserve Earth's most vital resource—its soil. Guided by AFES and powered by artists, scientists, educators, and civil society, this initiative set out to weave creativity and knowledge into a tapestry of soil literacy across Europe and beyond. With a vision to inspire, SOILSCAPE will build a network of over 120 actors across eight countries, support countless

Colloque « Regards sur les sols forestiers méditerranéens » – 12 novembre 2025

www.foret-mediterraneenne.org

Philippe Lebeaux

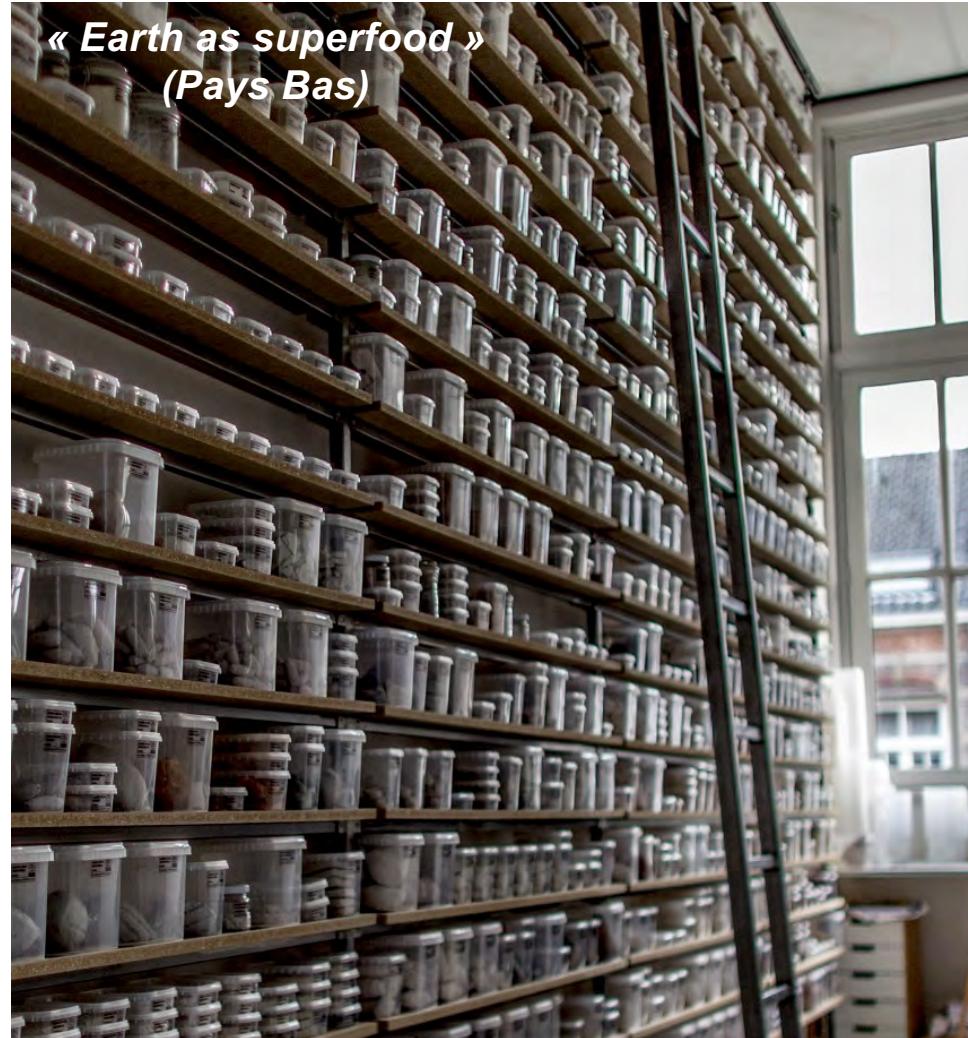

Philip
LEBEAUX

« Fungi care » (Suisse)

« Earth as superfood » (Pays Bas)

- Étude de l'existant → portail européen
- Développement de groupes nationaux : les orchestres du sol
- Appels à projets artistiques
-
- Festival des sols

ABOUT SOILSCAPE ▾ SOIL ORCHESTRAS OPEN CALL NEWS & EVENTS ▾ PRESS KIT

SOILSCAPE – the story of soil, science and art

Once upon a time, in a world where soil degradation became a priority concern, where hundreds of soil scientists and professionals rang the alarm bell, but where major gaps in societal awareness and education on the importance of soils for humans and the ecosystems persisted and slowed down the change towards sustainable soil governance, a rich and expansive story started to unfold. It is a tale of transformation, and a collaborative journey towards increased soil literacy.

The remarkable endeavor called SOILSCAPE emerges to unite the worlds of soil, art, and society in a shared mission to preserve Earth's most vital resource—its soil. Guided by AFES and powered by artists, scientists, educators, and civil society, this initiative set out to weave creativity and knowledge into a tapestry of soil literacy across Europe and beyond. With a vision to inspire, SOILSCAPE will build a network of over 120 actors across eight countries, support countless

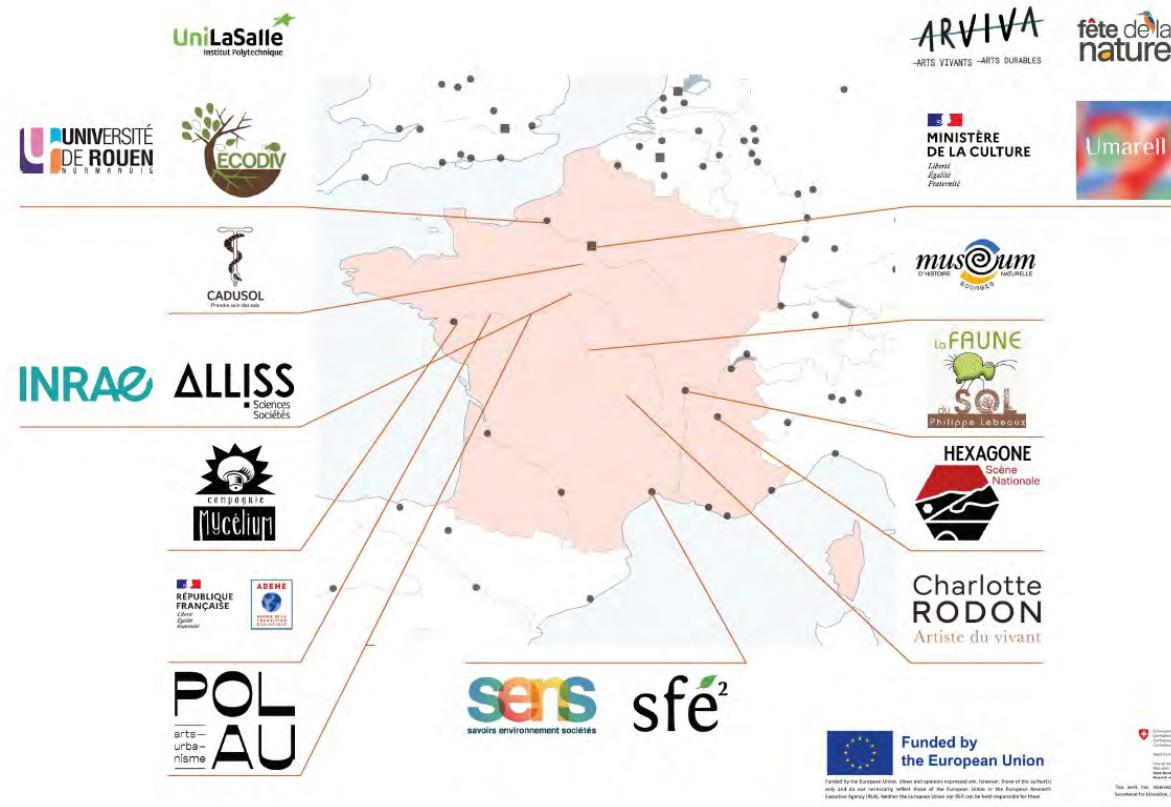

Colloque « Regards sur les sols forestiers méditerranéens » – 12 novembre 2025

www.foret-mediterraneenne.org

Composition de l'Orchestre Sol et Art français

Coodonné par l'Association Française pour l'Étude du Sol dans le cadre du projet européen SOILSCAPE

- Étude de l'existant → portail européen
- Développement de groupes nationaux : les orchestres du sol
- Appels à projets artistiques
-
- Festival des sols

ABOUT SOILSCAPE ▾ SOIL ORCHESTRAS OPEN CALL NEWS & EVENTS ▾ PRESS KIT

SOILSCAPE – the story of soil, science and art

Once upon a time, in a world where soil degradation became a priority concern, where hundreds of soil scientists and professionals rang the alarm bell, but where major gaps in societal awareness and education on the importance of soils for humans and the ecosystems persisted and slowed down the change towards sustainable soil governance, a rich and expansive story started to unfold. It is a tale of transformation, and a collaborative journey towards increased soil literacy.

The remarkable endeavor called SOILSCAPE emerges to unite the worlds of soil, art, and society in a shared mission to preserve Earth's most vital resource—its soil. Guided by AFES and powered by artists, scientists, educators, and civil society, this initiative set out to weave creativity and knowledge into a tapestry of soil literacy across Europe and beyond. With a vision to inspire, SOILSCAPE will build a network of over 120 actors across eight countries, support countless

Colloque « Regards sur les sols forestiers méditerranéens » – 12 novembre 2025

www.foret-mediterraneenne.org

Informer, Échanger, Rassembler, Proposer

Colloque organisé avec le soutien de

MINISTÈRE
DE LA TRANSITION
ÉCOLOGIQUE,
DE LA BIODIVERSITÉ,
DE LA FORÊT, DE LA MER
ET DE LA PÊCHE

*Liberté
Égalité
Fraternité*

MINISTÈRE
DE L'AGRICULTURE
ET DE LA SOUVERAINETÉ
ALIMENTAIRE

*Liberté
Égalité
Fraternité*

www.foret-mediterraneenne.org